GERMANS SAY ATTACKS HAVE BEEN REPULSED.

French Apparently Making Vigorous Offensive Movement in Alsace.

Escape from the Russian Trap, Southeast of Lodz, a Desperate and Valorous Feat.

The newest phase of the war, so far as is indicated by the day's despatches, is heavy fighting in Alsace, where the French have succeeded in maintaining a foothold on German territory since the opening of hostilities. Comparatively little has been heard of the struggle there, which is virtually a separate campaign, but now the French apparently have begun a vigorous offensive movement. The main battle is in progress near Altkirch, where the German war office says the attacks of the French have been repulsed.

Despatches are beginning to come in from Petrograd which give a closer view of the war in the east. They indicate that the Germans who fought their way out of the Russian trap performed a desperate and valorous feat. The heavy force southeast of Lodz, which was hemmed in, is said to have cut its way with bayonets step by step for 15 miles, in the face of constant attacks, until it was able to join the main body. This battle is described as the bloodiest and most pitiless of the war.

Italy's attitude in the European war has again become a source of concern, in view of Premier Salandra's declaration that his country was in no way bound to fight on the side of Germany and Austria, and the intimation that if her loyalty to treaty obligations were questioned further she would disclose the text of the Triple Alliance agreement. The German government's appointment of Prince Von Buelow, former chancellor, as temporary head of the embassy at Rome, is interpreted by Rome despatches as meaning that Berlin would exert strong pressure to prevent Italy from joining forces with the allies.

The desperate character of the hand-to-hand fighting in assaults on trenches, the use of hand grenades, and bomb-throwing machines, are described in a British official eye witness's report, issued today, which also discloses that the allies are using tunnel-boring apparatus for subterranean approach to the German entrenchments. It is said that subterranean life is the rule along the firing line, where defensive operations have been brought to a state of such efficiency that the Germans have practically ceased their efforts to break through the line of the enemy by assaults. Open fighting consequently has almost disappeared and the contest has taken on the nature of siege operations.

This report, however, covers the situation only up to November 29, since which time, as is shown by recent official statements, there have been heavy infantry engagements. Today's announcements from the French and German war offices contain claims of progress on both sides.

At one point north of the Lys, says the French statement, an advance of 500 yards, a noteworthy movement in view of the character of the operations, was made. The intense character of the fighting is indicated by the fact that the war office considers it worthy of remark that one part of a hamlet remains in possession of the allies, and that a ferryman's house which had been in dispute for a month had been captured.

The German statement asserts that French assaults in Flanders were repulsed and that the German forces made progress in the region of La Bassée, north of France, in the forest of the Argonne and in the vicinity of Altkirch, Alsace.

There is almost no news from the east. In one minor operation in East Prussia the Germans report that 120 Russians were captured.

The war office gives out without comment a newspaper report that the losses among the French troops amount to at least 50 per cent.

RUSSIANS REPORTED VICTORIOUS AT LODZ.

Allies Cease Claiming Great Success in Northern Poland.

Both Sides in West Flanders Engaged in Siege Operations.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—While reports continue to come into London that the Battle of Lodz has ended in a Russian victory, official confirmation is still lacking and it is apparent to British observers that conditions in the north of Poland are today virtually the same as they were one week ago, after the German army had been saved from overwhelming defeat by the brilliant operation of General Mackensen.

Details of the Lodz fighting are beginning to filter through and they easily prove it to have been the most bloody struggle of the entire war. The Germans are described as fighting their way through the Russian lines over the heaped up bodies of their comrades. Berlin claims heavy captures of prisoners. In this struggle, which has lasted for a month, the Russian army has suffered a tremendous defeat. The Germans have passed through Kiev as prisoners of war. The allies have ceased claiming a tremendous victory in northern Poland, but assert that the operations have been a strategic defeat for Germany and a tactical victory for Russia.

The Russians would appear not yet to have been diverted from their attacks in Galicia and the invasion of Hungary, but the fortresses of Przemyśl and Cracow are still intact and are likely to put up a stronger defense against the Russians than did the Belgian forts against the Germans.

An eye-witness with the British forces in France reports that both sides in West Flanders are engaged in siege operations, and the Germans have almost entirely abandoned their

FRENCH ADVANCE TO THE NORTH OF THE LYS.

Ports Destroyed Near the Arras and in Champagne.

Trenches in the Argonne Occupied and Counter Attacks Repulsed.

PARIS, Dec. 5.—The official French communication given out in Paris this afternoon says that north of the Lys the French troops have made perceptible progress, advancing at one point for a distance of 500 yards. The French resisted successfully the Germans' efforts with heavy artillery to drive them back. Rheims again has been bombarded and the French heavy artillery has been used with success against the earth positions of the enemy. In the Argonne the fighting is being waged hotly. The text of the communications follows:

"To the north of the Lys we have made perceptible progress. Our infantry, making its attack at day-break, occupied one of the two lines of entrenchments. The advance here was of 500 yards.

"A part of the hamlet of Welden-dreft, one kilometre to the northwest of Langemarck, has remained in our possession. In front of Poesele, half way between Dixmude and Ypres, we took possession on the right bank of the canal of a house belonging to a ferryman, the occupation of which has been disputed spiritedly for a month. The enemy endeavored, but without success, to compel us by means of a violent attack with heavy artillery to evacuate the conquered ground.

"In the region of Arras and in Champagne there have been intermittent cannonades from one side and the other. Rheims has been bombarded with severity. On our part we have destroyed, with our heavy artillery, several earth forts of the enemy.

"In the Argonne the contest continues to be very hotly waged. We Memorial to Maine Victims to be Dedicated February 15 Next.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Only finishing touches were necessary today to complete the memorial in Arlington National Cemetery to those who perished when battleship Maine was blown up in Havana harbor in February, 1898. After years of work, the memorial virtually is ready for formal dedication February 15 next, the seventeenth anniversary of the destruction of the Maine.

The memorial was provided by act of Congress. The most striking feature of the memorial is the main-mast of the Maine itself, a steeple on the ship. The mast stands erect from a granite base constructed in the form of a mausoleum, and which has the contour and effect of a turret of a battleship. The base is 14 feet high and its diameter 26 feet. On panels on the outer walls of the mausoleum are the names of those who went down when the Maine was destroyed.

The tentative program of the dedication ceremonies includes addresses by President Wilson, Secretary Daniels and Rear Admiral C. D. Sigbee, U. S. N., retired, who commanded the ill-fated ship.

CARRANZA WOULD BLOW UP CERTAIN TUNNELS.

To Cut Railroad Between Vera Cruz and Capital.

Cotton and Other Shipments of Goods Seized by General.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, informed the State Department today of a despatch from British Charge Hohler in Mexico City, saying reports were current that General Carranza was planning to destroy the British owned railroad between Vera Cruz and Mexico City by blowing up certain tunnels.

The ambassador also informed the department that Carranza had seized, at Vera Cruz, British cotton consigned to interior mills, as well as other shipments of British goods. He is understood to have made no specific request of the United States and his action was in line with the established policy of communicating to the department all reports from Mexico City.

Grave concern was expressed, however, over the reported threat of Carranza to put the railway, the only line operated between Mexico City and Vera Cruz, out of commission. If this were done by destroying tunnels along them troops would be required to restore traffic. Meanwhile, British subjects in the interior of Mexico would not have that means of escape from Mexico City.

Sir Cecil let it be known that the British government has not taken a position of unfriendliness toward the possible candidacy of Villa for the Mexican presidency. It is understood that England will not undertake to pass upon the right of any individual to aspire to leadership in Mexico. That, however, does not mean that an indemnity for the death of the British subject, Benson, would not be demanded from Villa should he become president, or from who ever may ultimately be settled in that office.

General Carranza has named General Alvarez, formerly post commander at Mexico City, as chief of the zone covering the states of Vera Cruz, Puebla and Tlaxcala. Nuevo Leon and other northern states and General Obregon, according to the plans, will be sent to the west coast.

BERLIN, Dec. 5 (by wireless to London).—Progress of German forces in the west is reported in an official statement given out this afternoon at the army headquarters. The statement follows:

OFFICIALLY DENIED.

New York Stock Exchange Governors Have Called No Meeting.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Official denial was made today of the report that a meeting had been called for next Friday of governors of the New York Stock Exchange, to ratify plans for the early resumption of trading in stocks on the floor of the Exchange. The denial was issued by the board of governors of the exchange, which has been at work for some time past on plans looking to the gradual revival of dealings in stocks.

"The plans of the committee of five to resume dealings in stocks on the floor of the Exchange have not yet been consummated," reads the announcement. "No meeting of the board of governors has been called and none will be called until the plan is perfected."

FEW PRICE CHANGES.

Early Dealings in Bonds Devoid of Special Interest.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Early dealings in bonds on the Stock Exchange today were devoid of special interest. Trading was brisk with few price changes. The one transaction of any size was a sale of $24,500 Pennsylvania Railway convertible at 95, unchanged. Rock Island collateral at 95 and debenture at 95 gained half a point each. Continued. The Rock Island constituted the sole feature of the brief session. The collateral four gained three points. The rise in the Rock Island issues was attributed to the reported perfection of a reorganization plan. Dealings in the remainder of the list were no less active than on the previous day, but the number of bonds traded in was decidedly smaller and the undertone more heavy.

Among the few important declines were Florida East Coast 4 1/2's, which lost 1 1/2, Lackawanna Steel 5's of 1923, 34, and Baltimore & Ohio 3 1/2's, 1.

AGAINST MAINE POTATO SEEDS.

Warning to New Jersey, Middle Atlantic and Southern Farmers.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The Department of Agriculture today issued a warning to farmers of New Jersey, the Middle Atlantic and Southern states against buying or planting potatoes from Maine unless they bear the department's certificate showing the potatoes to be free from powdery mildew. They are also warned against the use of table potatoes for planting purposes, as they, according to the department, even though they do not show the disease, may have been exposed to it. "Some dealers," the statement says, "have been buying table stock and selling it to seed. These men are not exhibiting any care, but they are exposing their customers to the risk of a dangerous disease and a quarantine should the powdery mildew be introduced."

QUIET ALONG ENGLISH FRONT.

Shelling in Rear of Line South of the Lys Diminishes.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The press bureau today issued a report from an eyewitness at the front covering military operations during the three days from November 25 to November 29 inclusive. This report is summarized as follows:

"General inactivity is recorded along the English front, with the Germans pressing the attack in one quarter against the Indian troops, who have been saving their trenches in an endeavor to get to close quarters with the enemy.

There has been some shelling of the rear of our front line south of the Lys, but this form of annoyance diminishes daily along the whole front. Sniping, however, is carried on almost incessantly. There seems to be little doubt that the Germans are employing civilians, either willingly or unwillingly, as snipers and some civilians have been seen and shot while engaged in this work.

While it is necessary to accept the evidence of all prisoners with caution, there is a change in the views expressed by some officers captured recently which appears to be genuine. They admit the failure of the German strategy and profess to take a gloomy view of the future. At the same time it must be confessed that as yet there is no sign that their view is generally held by the enemy, nor has there been any definite indication of a lack of morale among the German troops.

The highways of northern France are crowded with men responding to the various mobilization orders issued by the French government. Thousands of such troops were encountered on the course of a short automobile trip. The strange procession includes a curious mixture of types. A considerable proportion of these new drafts are composed of middle-aged men from the physique and likely young men from the front.

The change within the last few days of what may be termed the atmosphere of the battlefield has been nearly ceased so far as the use of explosives is concerned, the great activity is found in local attacks with hand grenades and short range howitzers. The enemy has virtually ceased to break through the line by assaults, and is now concentrating his energies to the same type of siege operations which have been familiar to the allies since the beginning of the battle of the Aisne.

Subterranean life is the general rule in the neighborhood of the firing line. Even those men not actually engaged in fighting live in underground quarters. Some of these quarters called "bank holes" are quite elaborate and comfortable and contain all the conveniences not found in the trenches on the firing line. They communicate with the firing line by zig zag approach, which make them almost impossible to attack. The underground line trenches by blinded sap, which are constructed by a special earth borer. When this secret tunnel reaches the enemy's trench an assault is delivered and a shower of hand grenades. The stormers endeavor to burst their way through the opening and then try to work along the trench. Machine guns are quickly brought up to repel a counter-attack.

Most of this fighting takes place at such close range that the guns on either side cannot be fired at the enemy's infantry without great risk of hitting their own. The short range Howitzers are of three types and those used by the Germans have come to be termed "the Jack Johnson" of close attack. The smaller bombs and grenades thrown by hand although local in action are very unpleasant, particularly between the enclosed space of a trench. These grenades are thrown continuously by both sides and every trench assault is preceded and accompanied by showers of these murderous missiles. This kind of fighting is very deadly and owing to the difficulty of observation, it is at times somewhat blind. This has in a measure been decreased, however, by the use of the periscope, an instrument which works much like the periscope on a submarine. It permits an observer to look out over the top of a parapet without raising his head above the tops of the trenches.

SEVERE STORM SWEEPS OVER ENGLISH WATERS.

Cruiser Venus Runs Ashore, Striking With Full Force.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—The Booth Steamship Company's liner Antony, bound from Liverpool for Para, has been disabled by the storm now sweeping over England and is in distress, 30 miles north of the Lizard. The captain of a local steamer received the signals "Want immediate assistance," but was unable to help the Antony, his own vessels being short of coal.

The Antony is of 3,750 tons net registered off the Lizard at midnight. Three persons were saved, the remainder of the crew are missing.

British cruiser Venus ran ashore in the storm, striking with full force. Her foremast and a portion of the rig were carried away by an enormous sea. The warship was running for a port in the south of England when the storm broke.

Another victim of the gale, which is still raging along the coast, is an unidentified steamer ashore near Mersey. Three lifeboats have gone to her assistance.

The Venus is one of the older British light cruisers. She was laid down in 1895 and has a displacement of 5,600 tons. She carries a complement of 453 men.

Woman Killed by Automobile Driven by Family Connection.

WOONSOCKET, Dec. 5.—Miss Malvina Gouin, aged 43, died at the Woonsocket Hospital at 6:30 this morning, a half hour after being struck on Social street by a seven-passenger automobile owned and driven by Alex Janelle, whose brother is married to a sister of the victim. Patrolmen Wilfred L. Vanasse and Aime Hebert were passengers in the machine, the trio having taken an early morning spin. They claim that the woman came confused in crossing the street and ran directly in front of the automobile. Janelle, who has two artificial legs as the result of an accident in 1895, was driving a street car, 25,990 miles without a previous accident.

CABLE REPORTS CONSIDERED.

Work Progressing on Estimates of World's Cotton Consumption in 1915.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Representatives of the State, Treasury and Commerce Departments continued today the work of preparing estimates of the world's cotton consumption next year. The committee had before it for consideration cable reports furnished by American consuls and commercial attaches, giving estimates on the cotton consumption from various European and South American countries. These are the first of the reports to be received in response to Secretary McAdoo's suggestions and are being gone over by the committee with a view to formulating a method of compiling the estimates on the present and prospective consumption of cotton in all parts of the world. In the future a monthly statement of the world's cotton market, based upon regular cable reports, will be issued for the information of American cotton producers and manufacturers.

The committee also is working out plans for the shipment of American cotton to Germany and Austria, when it is officially announced there is a tremendous demand for the product, at prices ranging from 14 to 18 cents. The principal difficulty as present in obtaining the movement of cotton to these and other European countries, however, according to the committee, is the question of the high rate of marine insurance thereon. As soon as the matter can be adjusted to the satisfaction of shippers, officials expect monthly cotton shipments from America to Germany and Austria to reach between 75,000 and 150,000 bales.

When Congress convenes attempts will be made to amend the war risk law to provide government insurance on shipments to belligerent countries, even when the shipments include articles such as cotton, which have been declared non-contraband.

NO BONDS YET FOR COBB.

Part Played by Messenger Boys and Mail in Collateral Case to be Probed.

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—The part played by messenger boys and the use of the mails in the stealings from the Collateral Loan Company is one of the phases under investigation by the police in the preparation of evidence to be submitted to the grand jury next week. One method said to have been employed was the sending of letters requesting loans and forwarding proceeds by registered mail or express, with the stipulation that the loan should be forwarded in cash. As this estimated check or money order received is said to have made the eventual recovery of the proceeds less easily detected.

Friends of William Cobb, former president of the company, under arrest charged with embezzlement, had not been able up to today to raise the required $25,000 bonds.

AS TO VON BUELOW'S POST.

Indicates Strong Pressure to Prevent Italy Passing to Allies' Side.

ROME, Friday, Dec. 4.—The formal announcement that Prince Bernard von Buelow, former chancellor of the German empire, had been placed at the head of the German embassy here while the present ambassador, Herr Von Flotow, is to be absent for three months, has aroused much interest in Rome. Although this move has been regarded as probable for some time, it may be said to have produced a considerable sensation. It is remarkable that a former chancellor should become the head of an embassy which is by no means the most important in the German diplomatic service.

In some quarters the appointment is regarded as Germany's answer to the declaration of Premier Salandra to the Italian Parliament Thursday, that there was no clause in any treaty binding Italy to participate with the Teuton allies in the present conflict and that Italy would maintain her present attitude of watchful and armed neutrality. On the other hand it was called the Prince von Buelow was popular as ambassador to Italy 20 years ago and that his wife belongs to a very prominent Italian family.

Many observers are of the opinion that the appointment of Prince von Buelow to this post means that Berlin is about to exercise strong pressure to prevent Italy from passing to the side of the allies.

Germans Report Gains at La Bassée and in the Argonne.

BERLIN, Dec. 5 (by wireless to London).—Progress of German forces in the west is reported in an official statement given out this afternoon at the army headquarters. The statement follows:

"French attacks yesterday in Flanders and to the south of Metz were repulsed. We made progress at La Bassée, in the forest of the Argonne, and in the region southwest of Althrecht. In the fighting to the east of the Meuse the situation is favorable for us, and in minor operations there we took 1,200 prisoners. Our operations in Poland are taking a normal course.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Representatives of the State, Treasury and Commerce Departments continued today the work of preparing estimates of the world's cotton consumption next year. The committee had before it for consideration cable reports furnished by American consuls and commercial attaches, giving estimates on the cotton consumption from various European and South American countries. These are the first of the reports to be received in response to Secretary McAdoo's suggestions and are being gone over by the committee with a view ultimately of formulating a method of compiling the estimates on the present and prospective consumption of cotton in all parts of the world. In the future a monthly statement of the world's cotton market, based upon regular cable reports, will be issued for the information of American cotton producers and manufacturers.

The committee also is working out plans for the shipment of American cotton to Germany and Austria, where it is officially announced there is a tremendous demand for the product, at prices ranging from 14 to 18 cents. The principal difficulty as present in facilitating the movement of cotton to these and other European countries, however, according to the committee, is the question of the high rate of marine insurance thereon. As soon as the matter can be adjusted to the satisfaction of shippers, officials expect monthly cotton shipments from America to Germany and Austria to reach between 75,000 and 150,000 bales. When Congress convenes attempts will be made to amend the war risk law to provide government insurance on shipments to belligerent countries, even when the shipments include articles such as cotton, which have been declared non-contraband.

Part Played by Messenger Boys and Mail in Collateral Case to be Probed.

BOSTON, Dec. 5.—The part played by messenger boys and the use of the mails in the stealings from the Collateral Loan Company is one of the phases under investigation by the police in the preparation of evidence to be submitted to the grand jury next week. One method said to have been employed was the sending of letters requesting loans and forwarding pledges by registered mail or express, with the stipulation that the loan should be forwarded in cash. As this eliminated check or money order records, it is said to have made the eventual re-hypothecation of pledges less easily detected.

Friends of William Cobb, former president of the company, under arrest charged with embezzlement, had not been able up to today to raise the required $25,000 bonds.

AS TO VON BUELOW'S POST.

Indicates Strong Pressure to Prevent Italy Passing to Allies' Side.

ROME, Friday, Dec. 4.—The formal announcement that Prince Bernhard von Buelow, former chancellor of the German empire, had been placed at the head of the German embassy here while the present ambassador, Herr Von Flotow, is to be absent for three months on account of his health, has aroused much interested comment in Rome. Although this move has been reported as probable for some time, it may be said to have produced a considerable sensation. It is remarkable that a former chancellor should become the head of an embassy which is by no means the most important in the German diplomatic service.

In some quarters the appointment is regarded as Germany's answer to the declaration of Premier Salandra to the Italian Parliament Thursday, that there was no clause in any treaty binding Italy to participate with the Teuton allies in the present conflict and that Italy would maintain her present attitude of watchful and armed neutrality. On the other hand it was recalled that Prince Von Buelow was popular as ambassador to Italy 20 years ago and that his wife belonged to a very prominent Italian family.

Cheese Fondue.

Take one-quarter pound grated cheese, add one-half cupful milk, pinch of salt, tablespoonful butter, one-half cupful cream, one tablespoonful flour, seasoning of pepper, cayenne, mustard and nutmeg. Heat carefully until cheese is completely dissolved; then beat up three eggs and add, stirring constantly. Pour into buttered—fireproof dish and bake until nearly solidified.

Baked Beef Heart Stuffed.

Wash heart well in salt water, taking care to remove all the blood; wash in second water, dry well with a clean cloth. Chop one-quarter pound suet, add six tablespoonfuls bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls chopped parsley, few powdered herbs, salt and pepper and one half cupful milk; fill all the cavities of the heart with the stuffing. Cover with a greased paper. Put one tablespoonful dripping into a pan, put in heart and let it roast two hours, basting well. For the sauce: Put one tablespoonful butter with one tablespoonful flour into a saucepan, mix and gradually add one pint of gravy, stir till boiling, then add one chopped onion, salt, pepper and spoonful of mushroom catsup; let cook eight minutes, pour sauce over heart and serve hot.

GOD'S LOVE.

(George Taggart, in The Christian Herald.)

Beneath the snow the flowers sleep,
Beneath the ice the rivers creep,
Under silent, to the sea;
All crystal after the hills and vales,
All glittering the dells and dales,
Mountain top and inland lea.

And yet behold the ocean wide,
Restless its unceasing tide,
Unceasing, summer, never still;
How like God's great love the deep,
Active always, never asleep,
As restless as his will!

STORIES FOR CHILDREN.

"Christmas Porringer," "Christmas Surprise Party,"
"Island of Make Believe."

An appropriate gift at the holiday season for a young girl would be "The Christmas Porringer," by Evaline Stein. It is a delightful little tale of the Flemish city of Bruges, many hundred years ago. There is a quality about the narrative which is pleasing, the atmosphere of that time having been carefully related.
Karen is a dear little girl, who lives with her grandmother, her parents being dead. Grandmother is an expert lace-maker, and is teaching the art
to Karen, so all day long they work over the black-covered pillows on which they weave the intricate patterns. As Christmas draws nigh the little girl's thoughts are full of what the Christ-child may leave in her wo-der shoes, for always he has left something for her. Then she begins to wonder why she has never given him a gift
as it is his birthday. When she questions her grandmother she receives little help, for grandmother says the Christ-child desires love and obedience for gifts. "But," continues the child, "does not one give him something for his very own?"

When Karen receives a small gift of money the next day she decides to buy a present for him. On Christmas eve she puts on the door-step a little porringer for the Christ-child. What becomes of the porringer, how it awakens a resolve to be better in the heart of a bold robber, and what is his final mission, makes a charming sequel to Karen's gift to the Christ-child.

The illustrations are by Adelaide Everhart.

Another attractive Christmas present for a little girl or boy would be
"The Christmas Surprise Party," by Caroline E. Jacobs. This is a bright little tale, full of humor, and pleasure to children. Little Lety, who lives in a farmhouse on the wide prairies,
has no pleasure in looking forward to Christmas, because brother Dan is far away in the East and cannot come home for the holiday.
Lety's father arouses her interest
by suggesting that she give dog Tray
a Christmas surprise party, inviting all the other canines of which there are a goodly number on the farm.
The little girl, begins at once to prepare for the festivities, and before she knows it is as eager and happy
over Christmas as ever. Her experiences make a diverting little story,
quite out of the ordinary.

The illustrations are by Jean A.
Young.

In "The Island of Make Believe" Blanche E. Wade takes an original method to show how children may entertain themselves. The story opens by saying that a ship, the Busy Bee,
full of merry children, after sailing on Happy ocean, goes aground on an "island" of toys. To their regret the children find that the island is a "make believe" island, and they are always followed eagerly and before long the children themselves are able to invent games and plays.

It is an entertaining story and will please children, as it is brimming over with ideas for many-day outings, as well as pleasant-day outings. Being couched in such a pleasing story, it will be more interesting to youngsters.

The illustrations are by Emma Troth.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S NEU- TRALITY.

The administration is so absolutely neutral that the President has urged the people not even to talk about the war, and the Secretary of the Navy approves the ban put on an Irish ballad with which the English soldiers are glorifying themselves. If "Tipperary"
may not be sung, we suppose "Annie Laurie" may not be sung on a government reservation; the British soldiers
sing it in the trenches before Sevastopol.
English soldiers are also marching to "Onward, Christian soldier,"
and "Oh, come all ye faithful."
Would it be a breach of neutrality to sing these as divine worship?
If the President is so neutral, why does he still insist on pressing that project of a government-owned merchant marine on Congress? Shipping is going on about as usual to all ports except those of Germany and Austria. Exports are large, and there is no complaint of lack of shipping.
The Holland-American line had no trouble in chartering 25 steamers to supplement its own fleet, whose neutral flag is a great invitation to business. Steamers are sailing from our ports to South America, Africa and Asia, and to all European countries to which there is reasonably safe access.
Why should the government do the unprecedented thing of going into the shipping business?

Indeed, where is it going "to the business"? The two countries to which we cannot export in any considerable amounts are Germany and Austria. If the United States government should buy the idle fleet of the Hamburg-American company, load the steamers with grain and copper, and send them to Hamburg, Bremen and Trieste, does anybody suppose we could keep out of this war? A more direct challenge to the allies could not be imagined. If the President is really trying to preserve the neutrality of the United States he should clear this delusion of a government merchant fleet out of his brain. There is not a single commercial justification for the scheme, and it would be certain to involve us in trouble with the allies, or with Germany if the President's fleet carried goods to England or to Russia. As for South America, there are more steamers than cargoes for that continent.

MERCENARIES AND VOLUNTEERS.

Accustomed as we are to dependence upon volunteers for an army, it has been a little puzzling to Americans to hear the Germans speaking disparagingly
of the British troops as "mercenaries."
We look upon volunteers
as several notches higher in the social scale than regulars; in fact, we are apt to speak of regulars with some sense of disparagement if not of actual contempt. We are tremendously proud of the volunteers; we think their intellect and patriotism far above that of men who enlist in the regular establishment in peace, and the last word we would dream of applying to them is "mercenaries."

To the Germans, accustomed to the theoretically universal military service,
the "volunteer" does not present so honorable an appearance. Not all Germans eligible for military service actually go into the army; the army is not large enough in peace. Yet, as all are subject to military service, and as military service is one of the obligations of citizenship, the whole army
presents itself as the nation itself with weapons. That is the German conception. The army is the people, and not a few thousand men employed to defend the people. Hence the Germans look upon English soldiers as "mercenaries" who enlist merely for the sake of the pay and are devoid of patriotism.

Our system is like the English. Both nations maintain in peace armies very small in proportion to the whole population, and depend in war upon a sufficient number of men entering the service at the call of their country. In our Civil war we offered large bounties to induce men to enlist, which is more than England has done; failing to secure men enough that way, we conscripted them, which England also has not done yet. Still, we and the English people look upon volunteers as patriots who respond to their country's call. The Germans, to whom military service, whether in war or in peace, is not voluntary, or only partially so regard American and English soldiers as contemptible creatures who enlist in order to gain the trifling wages of a soldier.

POLITENESS IN AN AGE OF HURRY.

How many pause to think in this age of hurry and bustle how far a little politeness goes? People are so used to taking for granted the things done for them that the words "Please"
and "Thank you" are too seldom on their lips and the little courtesies and kindly words which often mean so much to the one to whom they are extended are all too frequently forgotten in the rush of the busy day. It has often been said that Americans are not a polite people, that their lives are not full to permit the forms and ceremonies for which politeness calls. This may be true in many instances, but surely it does not take a great deal of time to utter a kind word or a pleasant greeting to friends, to extend the courtesies of life as one goes about his daily work, to pause a moment to say
"Thank you" for some service rendered
or some favor done.

No person can possibly be too busy to remember the little courtesies which stand for so much in the social as well as the business world. Politeness may well be defined as a habit of kindness and good breeding, for it is no respecter of persons and is shown to all alike. It makes good men and women, good sons and daughters, and good citizens, and the world seems a much pleasanter place in which to live. The polite person is generally most successful in whatever he undertakes,
and the courteous boys and girls generally are not only favorites in the social circles in which they move but also the most successful in business.
Any employer from a number of young men or young women applying for a position will choose always the one who unconsciously says "Yes, sir" and "Thank you." It may be that he never stops to think why he does it,
but the truth is that one person's politeness puts him on a higher plane of efficiency than the other applicants,
and therefore makes him preferable to those who may be as valuable as workers but lack the polish which a little politeness gives.

The art is one which every child should be taught in the home first of all, for it is there that the example
should first be given of what true politeness means and for what it stands.
That which all wish to cultivate in themselves as well as in their children is not mere civility or knowledge of the use of formulas. It is the true expression of a kindly deferential state of mind and heart. It is the true courtesy which should be so ingrained in a child's nature that it becomes a part of himself, a distinguishing element in his character, which will go with him
all through life.

Each individual should set the example of showing what good breeding is. Every moment of time may be so taken up with important duties and engagements that one hardly knows how he can go through each day's work successfully, yet each day one ought,
and can, no matter how busy, remember the little acts of politeness which mean so much to those with whom he comes in contact and make his own life better and broader. Good breeding and its exercise in little acts of kindness and courtesy is something which one should never allow himself to forget, nor should one ever feel that he has no time to teach his children politeness.

This is not a lost art, as some think.
Men and women have simply forgotten sometimes in the rush and hurry of the modern day to take a little time for the kindness and courtesy which they owe their neighbors. When they do remember to do this they are more than repaid in the satisfaction felt that it is not intentional to ignore the polite things of life. It would be well if all could remember that politeness
is due themselves as well as others,
and that persons lose much in character and breeding when they fail to practice it.

The 23 automobile licenses which the State Board of Public Roads has revoked so far this year are more than twice as many as during the whole of 1913. The records show a variety of causes which have contributed to the cancellation of operators' licenses,
but most prominent is the charge of driving while intoxicated, fully half being for this cause. It is estimated that more than 15,000 operators' licenses will have been issued at the end of the year, about 3,200 more than in 1913. The expanding use of automobiles is one of the marvels of the time.

The councilmen of Pittsburgh, who
in consideration of next year's budget have cut their own salaries $1,500 a year and passed a motion which practically demands that every city official from the mayor down through his cabinet volunteer to accept a proportionate cut, have taken action said to be without precedent in the history of legislative bodies in that city, the county and the state. Nevertheless, it is a good precedent, provided the municipal finances demanded such economy.

Though Providence has no typhoid fever epidemic, yet the health office reports 256 cases of the disease
since the beginning of the year, distributed through the 11 months. The majority have resulted from unsanitary conditions in the houses of those affected, the district which presents the largest number having no proper sewerage.

The count is complete, the results are officially announced, and now the officers-elect can prepare for the beginning of the new municipal year.

Governor-elect Whitman of New York, who has selected a newspaper man as his private secretary, knows where to look for a good man.

Colorado voted in a very decisive manner for state prohibition, the plurality being 15,572. It is enough.

CHRISTIANITY'S GROWTH.

Light Dispelling Darkness and Truth Routing Error From Strongholds.

[Christian Herald.]

The best evidence of the accuracy of Sharon Turner's extraordinary figures of the progressive growth of Christianity is found in the fact that only a few years ago the total Christian population of the world was given by two very distinguished authorities, Gustav Sundbarg and Fournier de Laix, at 494,356,000, this total representing an increase of 44,000,000
since Turner's figures were written during the last century. The grand total of Christians throughout the globe is now (1914) estimated at 529,- 000,000.

This amazing growth, in the face of tribulations and persecutions exceeding those that blotted out many of the old religions, can only be explained in the light of the divine purpose which the great founder of Christianity himself declared, when he said: "I if I be lifted up, will draw all men unto me." It is God's will that the whole earth, and its peoples of all nations and races, shall ultimately be won over to the Gospel.
His word is now printed in over 600
languages or dialects. In a single year 18,000,000 Bibles, in whole or in part,
have been put in circulation by the various Bible societies. A vast array of missionaries, white and native, is conquering all the ancient strongholds of heathenism for Christ. A little over 100 years ago there were less than 150 missionaries; now they are counted by brigades and battalions. The light is dispelling the darkness, and truth is routing error from its strongholds.
The great commission is being carried out, and the Gospel of Jesus Christ is being preached to "every living creature."

Christianity has conquered slavery;
it has taught the world kindness, and it is now teaching men of all nations
the lesson of brotherly love and friendship and the recognition of the rights of humanity. It is responsible for the best thoughts and the highest ideals of the world known today. And it will yet conquer war, and will uproot from
the hearts of men the lust for power,
the love of conquest and the jealousies that set nation in battle array against nation. The coming of that day, when war shall be banished into plover shores and spears into pruning hooks, is foreshadowed in God's word, and his people in every land are praying that it may come soon.

AMERICA'S APPLE CROP.

[Farm and Fireside.]
America's apple crop, at a reasonable estimate, this year will approximate 57,000,000 barrels. This sized crop would furnish one-half barrel, or 150 apples, for each member of our population. An apple a day eaten out of hand by Uncle Samuel's family from October to March would consume our entire crop. This makes no allowance for pie, apple sauce and baked apples.

Our normal export of apples is about 2,000,000 barrels, so should our apples go abroad this year we can be allowed a half-dozen more.
The world knows that really our apple market should not suffer if those six apples are kept at home.

AMERICA FOR ALLIES.

Sir George Paish Impressed With Unanimity in Regard to War.

Sir George Paish, editor of The Statist, has returned to London from America, whither he was sent, with Basil Blackett, by the British treasury, to assist in re-adjusting the foreign exchange dislocation. Upon his arrival in England, Sir George, while refusing to disclose any of the details of the business which took him to America, said the visit had afforded him highly satisfactory evidence of what commercial America thought of the European struggle.

"What I was struck with," he said,
"was the unanimity of feeling in met everywhere in America in regard to the war. It was not merely sympathy with Britain; I was made to feel that it was something much closer than that. As a nation America is endearingly loyal to the principles of justice,
and among the people there is an almost absolute solidarity as to the justice of the British cause—and they do not disguise their feelings. Any success of the allies is openly hailed with joy.
Americans have no doubt whatever
about the result of the conflict."

"As to the commercial situation,
things are gradually adjusting themselves. From an economic point of view the position is exceedingly good.
In fact could scarcely be better. Concerning the cotton trade, the best indication of recovery from the difficulties that arose on the outbreak of war is the fact that business is moving again. Arrangements for adjusting the cotton trade, a guest of the country and America met with complete satisfaction on the other side of the Atlantic."

[Regular correspondence of The News.]
After a two weeks' recess, owing to the holidays, the Oliphant Club resumed its meetings Friday afternoon,
being entertained by Mrs. Eunice

Chase on Gypson road. A program was presented by the hostess on "Household Economics and Home Management." Extracts were taken from The Rhode Island State Federation of Clubs in 1913, and articles were selected from the writing of Marian de la Roche presented in similar plan: was given in a booklet entitled
"From Tree to Cup," and the history of tapioca was presented in similar form. In conclusion Mrs. Chase read
"A Christmas Carol" and a questioning game included 25 questions whose answers referred to corn Miss Charlotte A. Chase will present as the next subject "The Playground of Europe."

THE CLOCK OF THE AGES.

[Christian Herald.]
"Pastor Russell," who assumes to speak with authority on many things Scriptural, has lately been making a sad mess of prophecy. Many a man, with more rashness than learning,
have lived to regret bitterly that they were ever tempted to join the date fixers who state the time when certain great events in prophecy are to take place. Cuning, Hart, Wild, Baxter and a host of others, all claiming to be able to read the "clock of the ages,"
were self-confessed failures and did not live to see the fulfillment of their forecasts, based on Daniel, Jeremiah and Revelation of a thousand years.
This is November. There is yet time to hedge, otherwise in a little over six weeks the pastor may regret his presumptuous blunder when it will be too late to correct it.

THE ADMINISTRATION'S NEUTRALITY.

The administration is so absolutely neutral that the President has urged the people not even to talk about the war, and the Secretary of the Navy approves the ban put on an Irish ballad with which the English soldiers are solacing themselves. If "Tipperary" may not be sung on a government reservation; the British soldiers sang it in the trenches before Sevastopol. English soldiers are also marching to "Onward, Christian Soldier," and "On, come all ye faithful." Would it be a breach of neutrality to sing these at divine worship?

If the President is so neutral, why does he still insist on pressing that project of a government-owned merchant marine on Congress? Shipping is going on about as usual to all ports except those of Germany and Austria. Exports are large, and there is no complaint of lack of shipping. The Holland-American line had no trouble in chartering 25 steamers to supplement its own fleet, whose neutral flag is a great invitation to business. Steamers are sailing from our ports to South America, Africa, and Asia, and to all European countries in which there is reasonably safe access. Why should the government do the unprecedented thing of going into the shipping business?

Indeed, where is it going into the business? The two countries to which we cannot export in any considerable amounts are Germany and Austria. If the United States government should buy the idle fleet of the Hamburg-American company, load the steamers with grain and copper, and send them to Hamburg, Bremen and Trieste, does anybody suppose we could keep out of this war? A more direct challenge to the allies could not be imagined. If the President is really trying to preserve the neutrality of the United States he should clear this delusion of a government merchant fleet out of his brain. There is not a single commercial justification for the scheme, and it would be certain to involve us in trouble with the allies, or with Germany if the President's fleet carried goods to England or to Russia. As for South America, there are more steamers than cargoes for that continent.

MERCENARIES AND VOLUNTEERS

Accustomed as we are to dependence upon volunteers for an army, it has been a little puzzling to Americans to hear the Germans speaking approvingly of the British troops as "mercenaries." We look upon volunteers as several notches higher in the social scale than regulars; in fact, we are apt to speak of regulars with some sense of disparagement if not of actual contempt. We are tremendously proud of the volunteers; we think their intelligence and patriotism far above that of men who enlist in the regular establishment in peace, and the last word we would dream of applying to them is "mercenaries."

To the Germans, accustomed to theoretically universal military service, the "volunteer" does not present so honorable an appearance. Not all Germans eligible for military service actually go into the army; the army is not large enough in peace. Yet, as all are subject to military service, and as military service is one of the obligations of citizenship, the whole army presents itself as the nation itself with weapons. That is the German conception. The army is the people, and not a few thousand men employed to defend the people. Hence the Germans look upon English soldiers as "mercenaries" who enlist merely for the sake of the pay and are devoid of patriotism.

Our system is like the English. Both nations maintain in peace armies very small in proportion to the whole population, and depend in war upon a sufficient number of men entering the service at the call of their country. In our Civil war we offered large bounties to induce men to enlist, which is more than England has done; falling to score men enough that way, we conscripted them, which England also has not done yet. Still, we and the English people look upon volunteers as patriots who respond to their country's call. The Germans, to whom military service, whether in war or in peace, is not voluntary, or only partially so regard American and English soldiers as contemptible creatures who enlist in order to gain the trifling wages of a soldier.

POLITENESS IN AN AGE OF HURRY.

How many pause to think in this age of hurry and bustle how far a little politeness goes? People are so used to taking for granted the things done for them that the words "Please" and "Thank you" are too seldom on their lips and the little courtesies and kindly words which often mean so much to the one to whom they are extended are all too frequently forgotten in the rush of the busy day. It has often been said that Americans are not a polite people, that their lives are not full to permit the forms and ceremonies for which politeness calls. This may be true in many instances, but surely it does not take a great deal of time to utter a kind word or a pleasant greeting to friends, to extend the courtesies of life as one goes about his daily work, to pause a moment to say "Thank you" for some service rendered or some favor done.

No person can possibly be too busy to remember the little courtesies which stand for so much in the social as well as the business world. Politeness may well be defined as a habit of kindness and good breeding; for it is no respecter of persons and is shown to all alike. It makes good men and women, good sons and daughters, and good citizens, and the world seems a much pleasanter place in which to live. The polite person is generally most successful in whatever he undertakes, and the courteous boys and girls generally are not only favorites in the social circles in which they move but also the most successful in business. Any employer from a number of young men or young women applying for a position will choose always the one who unconsciously says "Yes, sir" and "Thank you." It may be that he never stops to think why he does it, but the truth is that one person's politeness puts him on a higher plane of efficiency than the other applicants, and therefore makes him preferable to those who may be as valuable as workers but lack the polish which a little politeness gives.

The art is one which every child should be taught in the home first of all, for it is there that the example should first be given of what true politeness means and for what it stands. That which all wish to cultivate in themselves as well as in their children is not mere civility or knowledge of the use of formulas. It is the true expression of a kindly differential state of mind and heart. It is the true courtesy which should be so ingrained in a child's nature that it becomes a part of himself, a distinguishing element in his character, which will go with him all through life.

CHRISTIANITY'S GROWTH.

Light Dispersing Darkness and Truth Routing Error From Strongholds.

The best evidence of the accuracy of Sharon Turner's extraordinary figures of the progressive growth of Christianity is found in the fact that only a few years ago the total Christian population of the world was given by two very distinguished authorities, Gustav Sundburg and Fourmont de Paris, at 491,356,000, this total representing an increase of 44,000,000 since Turner's figures were written during the last century. An apple a day eaten out of hand by Uncle Samuel's family from October to March would consume our entire crop. This makes no allowance for pie, apple sauce and baked apples.

Our normal export of apples is about 2,000,000 barrels, so should no apples go abroad this year we can each be allowed a half-dozen more, 150 apples per capita. Really our apple market should not suffer if these six apples are kept at home.

AMERICA FOR ALLIES.

Sir George Paish Impressed With Unanimity in Regard to War.

Sir George Paish, editor of "The Statist," has returned to London from America, whither he was sent, with Basil Blackett, by the British treasury, to assist in re-adjusting the foreign exchange dislocation. Upon his arrival in England, Sir George, while refusing to disclose any of the details of the business which took him to America, said the visit had afforded him highly satisfactory evidence of what commercial America thought of the European struggle.

"What I was struck with," he said, "was the unanimity of feeling in America in regard to the war. It was not merely sympathy with Britain; I was made to feel that it was something much closer than that. As a nation America is endeavoring to observe strict neutrality, but among the people there is an almost absolute solidarity as to the justice of the British cause—and they do not disguise their feelings. Any success of the allies is enthusiastically hailed by Joy. America's heart is for us, whatever about the result of the conflict."

"As to the commercial situation, things are gradually adjusting themselves. From an economic point of view the position is exceedingly good, in fact could scarcely be better. Concerning the cotton trade, the best indication of recovery from the difficulties that attend the outbreak of war is the fact that business is moving again. Arrangements for adjustment of the position between this country and America met with complete satisfaction on the other side of the Atlantic."

MIDDLETOWN.

Clapham Club Program on Household Economics in the Home.

(Regular correspondence of The News.) After a two week recess, owing to the holidays, the Clapham Club resumed its meetings Friday afternoon, being entertained by Mrs. Eunice Chase on Gypson road. A program was presented by the hostess on "Household Economics and Home Management." Extracts were taken from "The Housekeeper's Manual" by the Rhode Island State Federation of Clubs in 1913, and articles were selected from the writings of Marion of Laplace was presented in similar form. In conclusion, Mrs. Chase read "A Christmas Carol" and a guessing game including 28 questions whose answers referred to Mrs. Charles Peckham of Middletown.

Wapping road entertained the members of the Epworth League at its weekly cottage service Friday evening. There was an excellent attendance. The subject, "What motive shall govern my Christmas giving?" was presented by the pastor, Rev. E. B. Wells.

The weekly meeting of St. Columba's Guild was devoted to continuing arrangements for the Christmas sale and turkey supper. The committee has been fortunate in securing young Vermont turkeys, the quantity being 125 pounds.

Some of the schools are suffering from an epidemic of a peculiar kind of "rash."

THE CLOCK OF THE AGES.

(Christian Herald.) "Pastor Russell," who assumes to speak with authority on many things Scriptural, has lately been making a sad mess of prophecy. Many men, with more rashness than learning, have lived to regret bitterly that they ever attempted to join the date fixers. The clock of the ages when certain great events in prophecy are to take place, Kuning, Harl, Wild, Baxter and a host of others, all claiming to be able to read the "clock of the ages," were self-confessed failures and did not live to see the fulfillment of their forecasts, based on Daniel, Jeremiah and Revelation. Russell, as the Presbyterian points out, after making sundry calculations and misquoting Scripture, says: "If so, with the close of the present year, Messiah should take to himself his great power and begin his glorious reign of a thousand years." This is November. There is yet time to hedge, otherwise in a little over six weeks the pastor may regret his presumptuous claim when it will be too late to correct it.

HENRY E. MINKLER.

Retired Paymaster's Clerk Dies at Naval Hospital After a Short Illness.

Mr. Henry E. Minkler, for many years a paymaster's clerk in the navy, died at the naval hospital Friday morning after an illness of several weeks. He was born in Newport August 2, 1845, and spent his early life here. When a young man he entered the naval service as a paymaster's clerk and was engaged in this work for more than 30 years, serving under various paymasters. He was retired on the retired list February 1, 1908, having to his credit 23 years and 1 month sea service and 11 years and 2 months shore duty; being retired on his own application. Since then he has resided at the farmstead on Mt. Vernon street. He was a daughter, Mrs. Philip R. Minkler.

BOWLING PRIZES.

Week-End Prospectus for Army and Navy Y. M. C. A. Full of Promise.

The week-end prospectus of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association is as full of promise as good times as ever. This afternoon the indoor recreation games, including base ball, volleyball and band ball, were called at 3 o'clock. At 4:30 the winning pool will be the centre of interest, being given for different events in the aquatic line. Great interest is always shown in the sports in the "swim" and many are coming to become good swimmers. The evening will begin with the apple-ducking contest at 7, followed by regular lobby sports in the social room. The rooster fight, which always proves interesting, Indian wrestling, a sure test of dexterity and brain work, and an apple bite, for big eaters especially, are among the things that will be shown. These insure a "sporty" evening to even the most picky.

There will be no special services Sunday. The men will go to the Wallace Club for afternoon service, for which a luncheon will be served. J. R. Conaway will give a talk to the men at the Annex at the Training station at 3 o'clock. For several years the Association has offered a bowling prize for the three highest consecutive scores. Last year this was a Naaham match between the big pins and the other for the duck pins. The prizes this year will be gold rings of equal value, one of the big pins and the other for the duck pins. The rings have the design which is on the United States seal, and the eagle and the words "United States" are prominent. Many men have had good times on the Association alleys trying for these prizes, and it is hoped that many more will try in the future.

CLIMBING ON THE LAND WAGON.

Reports are common nowadays of department officials going to those who have been instrumental in impressing the need of re-organization in the people, and telling them that since the people want it they are agreeable and will render such assistance. From the various reports it has been heard it would appear as if a large portion of the firemen are willing now to be counted with the re-organization, though they may have said last Monday that the lines on which the new department is to be built are impracticable.

BOARD OF HEALTH WATCHING IMMIGRANTS.

The board of health has its eye on some immigrants who have come from foreign countries where there are contagious diseases. The local board is always warned by the authorities in Boston or New York when anyone is on their way to this city, and the board is careful to watch the person or persons for two weeks. The danger is very slight, however, as the immigrants are quarantined at the port of entrance into this country, and the trip is generally long distances, so that the time to attack a victim before he reaches his destination.

SPARROWS THE KINGFISHERS.

Big Gain Made in Plunge for Distance, Bringing Them Up to Leaders.

Condors, Eagles and Bobolinks Flying Behind, Redstarts Last in Pan-Athletic League.

Although the Sparrows did not have a particularly successful day, still the Kingfishers, leaders in the Pan-Athletic League at the Young Men's Christian Association, this morning suffered a number of defeats which enabled the Sparrows, who were in second place, to tie them for first honors. Each team now has 40 points and is well in advance of the Condors who come next with 27. The Eagles are right on the Condors' tails with 24 points, while the Bobolinks, arriving not far behind with 22. The Redstarts are in last place with 19.

During the time the Sparrows were creeping up on the Kingfishers there was much excitement among the leaders when they realized that the Kingfishers were being threatened. Point after point the Sparrows cut down, and when they finally tied the score, through the fine work in the plunge for distance, there was a big cheer for them.

In the volley ball contests the Redstarts defeated the Condors 11-2, the Bobolinks set back the Sparrows when they won 11-6, and the Kingfishers received their first jolt when they fell before the Eagles, 11-5. The Eagles then kept after the Kingfishers in the 25-yard and 50-yard relays, and won both, although the Kingfishers made it close each time. The Redstarts kept the Condors from climbing by winning both the relay races from them, and then the Sparrows crawled up on the leaders for the first time, when they won the 500-yard relay. Prospects looked bright for another gain, but the Bobolinks squashed this when they nosed out ahead in the 250-yard relay.

The Sparrows made their big gain in the plunge for distance, which was held in the natatorium. Each boy present on each team swam as far under water as he could, and the total distance was then added. The Sparrows aggregated 500 feet, which gave them five points. The Bobolinks and Eagles were close seconds, each having 80 feet, which split the second and third place points between them, giving each 3½. The Redstarts made 64½ feet, thereby securing two points, while the Condors made 4½ points, which gave them a point. The leading Kingfishers did not score a point in this event, gaining but 1½ feet in the plunge.

There was a big squad of boys out this morning, so large a number that the gymnasium was crowded to its capacity for the exercises. The Pan-Athletic League is awakening added confidence in its belief that it will win the pennant.

When Princeton forfeited to Harvard in the Employed Boys' League Friday evening, the latter team increased its leads one point, and now is in front with 15. Yale is second with 8, while Brown is a close third with 8. Dartmouth being next with 5, and Princeton a poor last with only 1 point. Nolan's shooting enabled Brown to defeat Dartmouth, 5-0, in the only game played. Peterson, Nolan, Lee, Sullivan and Weeden were on the Brown team while Dent, Allan, Tarr, Bloomfield and Bentley upheld the green of Dartmouth.

ACCIDENT TO MC CARTHY.

Local Boxer to Have Substitute in Opening Bout of Exhibition.

Owing to an accident to Jack McCarthy, a local boxer, in a Rugby football game, he will not be able to appear against Morris at the Athletic Club's exhibition Monday evening but another will substitute in his place in the opening bout. Orchard and White's managers have decided to agree on a referee by Monday, the weight of the man will be announced and a decision is expected. There is much interest at the Torpedo Station where Orchard is training, and his friends claim that Heinie has formed a way to avoid White's clever left hand and will secure this time an undisputed decision. White is a man of few words, and his action will speak for himself.

POLICE OFFICERS INVOLVED.

Indictments Returned in Connection With Chicago Graft Cases.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Indictments were returned today naming two police officers and a former detective involved in the "graft" concessions of "Barney" Bertische and the brothers, Frank and James Ryan. The defendant charged with conspiracy to obtain money by fraud and with bribery, are Captain James J. Halpin, Lieutenant John Tobin and former Detective Walter O'Brien.

YANKEE SLEIGHS ORDERED.

British and French to Use 3,000 for Transportation of Supplies.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—The Yankee sleigh has become a necessity in the European war, it became known today. Orders have been placed with a South Bend, Ind., firm by the British and French governments for 3,000 sleighs to be used principally for the transportation of supplies.

FOR MARINE OFFICERS.

Naval Academy Graduates Suggested by General Barnett.

Appointment of Naval Academy graduates as marine officers, an increase of the personnel of the corps by about 800 officers and men, including two brigadier generals, and the assignment of detachments of marines to small warships for possible service in foreign countries, constitute the chief recommendations in the annual report of Major General George Barnett, commander of the marine corps, emphasizing the need for obtaining marine officers from Annapolis. General Barnett observes: "Not only would the corps then receive officers who are better educated, technically and those now admitted, but also much better qualified physically."

The report asks that, unless this recommendation is adopted, no more appointments be made until Congress has been asked to provide for appointment from civil life of provisional second lieutenants, to serve as such for two years, meanwhile attending an officers' school.

On the suggestion that marines in considerable numbers be used on light-draft ships for service abroad, the report says: "It is suggested that, if a sufficient number of marines had been available to enable this policy to have been carried out last year, it would have relieved a considerable number of battleships from this duty, and would have enabled them to have carried on their training preparatory to war in a more satisfactory manner."

General Barnett expresses fear that long-continued service in the tropics is bound to have an unfortunate effect on the health of the corps, and that adverse reports have come from inspecting officers due to inadequate and insanitary barracks, which cannot be improved without special appropriations.

Finally he asks new ratings and increased pay for the enlisted men in the marine corps, who are doing technical work similar in character to that performed by enlisted men of the army.

SCHOOL MILITARY DRILLS.

Committee Visits Boston to Witness Practical Exhibition.

The sub-committee from the School Committee, to report on military drill in the higher grades, had a pleasant trip Friday to Boston. They visited the English High and the Latin High, witnessing drills by three battalions for 45-minute periods and conferring with the head masters of the drill masters, the latter having held his position since 1861. They heard much regarding the benefit of military drill to the discipline in the schools and many other features which seem to make the results warrant the increased expenditure.

The committee will report its findings at the next meeting of the School Committee. They made the trip both ways by automobile, going prepared for the ride and thoroughly enjoying it. They arrived home shortly after 6 Friday evening.

VOTERS CANNOT BE FOUND.

Postoffice Unable to Deliver Some Copies of Re-Organization Report.

Some supposed voters in Newport did not have the opportunity of reading a private copy of the re-organization report before election day, for the postoffice has a quantity of these which it has been unable to deliver. The reports were all mailed from the city clerk's office to names and addresses appearing on the several voting lists, so that the failure of the postoffice to deliver them simply shows that some voters are neglectful about keeping their addresses on the lists up to date, though the Board of Aldermen as a board of canvassers tries to correct the lists before each election. Some voters move about the city and claim residence in their original ward, but this is probably not the reason for the non-delivery of many of the reports, removal from the city being one major cause.

HENRY E. MINKLER.

Retired Paymaster's Clerk Dies
at Naval Hospital After a Short Illness.

Mr. Henry E. Minkler, for many years a paymaster's clerk in the navy, died at the naval hospital Friday evening after an illness of several weeks. He was born in Newport August 2, 1845, and spent his early life here. When a young man he entered the naval service as a paymaster's clerk and was engaged in this work for more than 30 years, serving under various paymasters. He was placed on the retired list February 18, 1903, having to his credit 23 years and 7 months sea service and 11 years and 2 months shore duty; being retired on his own application. Since then he has resided in the Minkler household on Mt. Vernon street. He leaves a daughter, Mrs. Philip R. Crowther.

BOWLING PRIZES.

Week-End Prospectus for Army
and Navy Y. M. C. A.
Full of Promise.

The week-end prospectus of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association is as full of promise of good times as ever. This afternoon the indoor recreation games included base ball, volley and hand ball, were called at 3 o'clock. At 4:30 the swimming pool will be the centre of interest, prizes being given for different events in the aquatic line. Great interest is always shown in the sports in the swim, and many are beginning to locate the good swimmer. The evening will begin with the apple-ducking contest at 7, followed by regular lobby sports in the social room. The rooster fight, which always proves interesting; Indian wrestling, a sure test of dexterity and brain work, and an apple bite, for big eaters especially, are among the things planned. These should insure a "sporty" evening to even the most exacting.

There will be no special services Sunday. The men will go to the Walter Lawrence Club for afternoon service, after which a luncheon will be served. Mr. J. R. Conant will give a talk to the men at the Annex at the Training Station at 3 o'clock.

For several years the Association has offered a bowling prize for the three highest consecutive scores. Last year this was a Waltham watch for the big pins and a watch fob for the duck pins. The prizes this year will be gold rings of equal value, one for the big pins and the other for the duck pins. The rings have the design which is on the United States seal, the shield and the eagle being prominent. Many men have had good times on the Association alleys trying for these prizes, and it is hoped that many more will try in the future.

CLIMBING ON THE LAND WAGON.

Reports are common nowadays of the department officials going to those who have been instrumental in impressing the need of re-organization on the people, and telling them that since the people want it they are agreeable and will render such assistance as they may. The various names heard it would appear as if a large portion of the firemen are willing now to be counted with the re-organization, though they may have said last Monday that the lines on which the new department is to be built are impracticable.

BOARD OF HEALTH WATCHING IMMIGRANTS.

The board of health has its eye on some immigrants who have come from foreign countries where there are contagious diseases. The board is always warned by the authorities in Boston or New York when any are on their way to this city, and keeps a careful watch on the person or persons for two weeks. The danger is very slight, however, as the immigrants are quarantined at the point of entrance into this country, and as the trip is generally long, diseases have time to attack a victim before he reaches his destination.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

SPARROWS THE KINGFISHERS.

Big Gain Made in Plunge for Distance, Bringing Them Up to Leaders.

Condors, Eagles and Bobolinks Flying Behind, Redstarts Last in Pan-Athletic League.

Although the Sparrows did not have a particularly successful day, still the Kingfishers, leaders in the Pan-Athletic League at the Young Men's Christian Association, this morning suffered a number of defeats which enabled the Sparrows, who were in second place, to tie them for first honors. Each team now has 40 points, and is well in advance of the Condors who come next with 27. The Eagles are right on the Condors' tails with 26 points, while the Bobolinks, flying not far behind with 23. The Redstarts are in last place with 19.

During the time the Sparrows were creeping up on the Kingfishers there was much excitement among the teams when they realized that the Kingfishers were being threatened. Point after point the Sparrows cut down, and when they finally tied the score, through the fine work in the plunge for distance, there was a big cheer for them.

In the volley ball contest the Redstarts defeated the Condors, 11-2; the Bobolinks set back the Sparrows when they won, 11-5, and the Kingfishers received their first jolt when they fell before the Eagles, 11-5. The Eagles then kept after the Kingfishers in the 250-yard and 500-yard relays, and won both, although the Kingfishers made it close each time. The Redstarts kept the Condors from climbing by winning both the relay races from them, and then the Sparrows crawled up on the leaders for the first time, when they won the 500-yard relay. Prospects looked bright for another gain, but the Bobolinks squashed this when they nosed out ahead in the 250-yard relay.

The Sparrows made their big gain in the plunge for distance, which was held in the bathatorium. Each boy present on each team swam as far under water as he could, and the total distances were then added. The Sparrows aggregated 514 feet, which gave them five points. The Bobolinks and Eagles were close seconds, each having 80 feet, which split the second and third place points between them, giving each 3½. The Redstarts made 64½ feet, thereby securing two points, while the Condors made 43½ points, which gave them one point. The Kingfishers did not swim in this event, gaining only 19½ feet in the plunge.

There was a big squad of boys out this morning, so large a number that the gymnasium was crowded to capacity for the exercises. The Pan-Athletic League is awakening considerable interest each week, and each team is confident in its belief that it will win the pennant.

When Princeton forfeited to Harvard in the Employed Boys' League Friday evening the latter team increased its leads one point, and now is in front with 15. Yale is second with 9 while Brown is a close third with 7. Princeton being next with 7, and Princeton a poor last with only 1 point. Nolan's shooting enabled Brown to defeat Dartmouth, 5-0, in the only game played. Peterson, Nolan, Lee, Sullivan and Weeden were on the Brown team while Dent, Allan, Tarr, Bloomfield and Bentley upheld the green of Dartmouth.

ACCIDENT TO MCCARTHY.

Local Boxer to Have Substitute in Opening Bout of Exhibition.

Owing to an accident to Jack McCarthy, a local boxer, in a Rugby football game, he will not be able to appear against Morris at the Athletic Club's exhibition Monday evening but another will substitute in his place in the opening bout. Orchard and White's managers have decided to agree on a referee by Monday, the weight of the men will be announced and a clever bout is expected. There is much interest at the Torpedo Station where Orchard is training, and his friends claim that Heine has formed a way to avoid White's clever left hand and will secure this time an undisputed decision. White is a man of few words, and his action will speak for himself.

POLICE OFFICERS INVOLVED.

Indictments Returned in Connection With Chicago Graft Cases.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—Indictments were returned today naming two police officers and a former detective involved in the "graft" concessions of "Barney" Bertische and the brothers, Frank and James Ryan. The defendants, charged with conspiracy to obtain money by fraud and with bribery, are Captain James J. Halpin, father-in-law of John T. Quinn and former Detective Walter O'Brien.

YANKEE SLEIGHS ORDERED.

British and French to Use 3,000 for Transportation of Supplies.

CHICAGO, Dec. 6.—The Yankee sleigh has become a necessity in the European war, it became known today. Orders have been placed with a South Bend, Ind., firm by the British and French governments for 3,000 sleighs to be used principally for the transportation of supplies.

FOR MARINE OFFICERS.

Naval Academy Graduates Suggested by General Barnett.

Appointment of Naval Academy graduates as marine officers, an increase of the personnel of the corps by about 500 officers and men, including two brigadier generals, and the assignment of detachments of marines to small warships for possible service in foreign countries, constitute the chief recommendations in the annual report of Major General George Barnett, commandant of the marine corps, suggesting the need for obtaining marine officers from Annapolis, General Barnett answered: "Not only would the corps then receive officers who are better educated, technically and in those now admitted, but also much better qualified physically."

The report asks that, unless this recommendation is adopted, no more appointments be made until Congress has been asked to provide for appointment from civil life of provisional second lieutenants, to serve as such for two years, meanwhile attending an officers' school.

On the suggestion that marines in consular numbers be used on light-draft ships for service abroad, the report says: "It is suggested that if a sufficient number of marines had been available to enable this policy to have been carried out last year, it would have relieved a considerable number of battleships from this duty, and would have enabled them to have carried on their training preparatory to war in a more satisfactory manner."

General Barnett expresses fear that long-continued service in the tropics is bound to have an unfortunate effect on the health of the corps, and adds that adverse reports have come from inspecting officers due to inadequate and insanitary barracks, which cannot be improved without special appropriations.

SCHOOL MILITARY DRILLS.

Committee Visits Boston to Witness Practical Exhibition.

The sub-committee from the School Committee, to report on military drill in the higher grades, had a pleasant trip Friday to Boston. They visited the English High and the Latin High, witnessing drills by three battalions for 45-minute periods and conferring with the head masters and the drill master, the latter having held much regarding the benefit of military drill to discipline in the schools and many other features which seem to make the results warrant the increased expenditure. The committee will report its findings at the next meeting of the School Committee. They made the trip both ways by automobile, going prepared for the ride and thoroughly enjoying it. They arrived home shortly after 6 Friday evening.

VOTERS CANNOT BE FOUND.

Postoffice Unable to Deliver Some Copies of Re-Organization Report.

Some supposed voters in Newport did not have the opportunity of reading a private copy of the re-organization report before election day. For the postoffice has a quantity of these which it has been unable to deliver. The reports were at mailed from the city clerk's office to names and addresses appearing on the several voting lists, so that the failure of the carriers to deliver them simply shows that some voters are neglectful about keeping their addresses on the lists up to date, though the Board of Aldermen has ordered all of the carriers to visit the lists before each election. Some voters move about the city and claim residence in their original ward, but this is probably not the reason for the non-delivery of many of the reports, removal from the city being one major cause.

FOUND IN SURVEY MAPS.

Proof That a Violation of Switzerland's Neutrality Was Germany's Plan.

PARIS, Dec. 4.—Proof that a violation of the neutrality of Switzerland was included in Germany's original plan has been found, says the Matin, in the shape of ordinance survey maps discovered among the papers on killed German officers. The maps are similar to those used by Swiss officers, the Matin says, except that all the names are in Italian and information of a special nature printed on them shows that they were intended for the use of the Italian army marching across Switzerland to attack France.

FOR WAR SUFFERERS.

Gifts Should be Sent to American Red Cross, Bush Terminal.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Confusion resulting from a misunderstanding in some quarters as to which Red Cross contributions intended for the distressed people in Europe should be sent led to an official announcement today that all gifts should be forwarded freight prepaid to "American Red Cross, Bush Terminal, Thirty-ninth street and Second Avenue, South Brooklyn, N. Y."

It was also announced that the Red Cross would be glad to accept donations for any of the warring nations designated and toward the same when delivered to the address named, but that it could not guarantee to deliver to any particular families or group of persons or to any particular city in Europe.

Brown, James Brown, George E. Bailey and Frank G. Wilbur.

New Proposition for President to Attend Senate Executive Session.

Real Objections May be Aroused—La Follette Unable to Attend Next Session of Senate.

(Washington correspondence of the News.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—President Wilson is evidently satisfied with the efforts he has been making to get in closer touch with Congress, first by reading his various messages to the two houses in joint assembly and by appearing at the Capitol at various times for the purpose of consulting Senators and Representatives on pending legislation.

No doubt this accounts for the discussion that has taken place regarding the proposition to get in closer touch with the lawmakers in the Capitol. The more proposed that the President shall attend the executive sessions of the Senate when treaties, foreign relations and Presidential appointments are under consideration. The other is that the cabinet shall attend the sessions of the House when matters are being discussed pertaining to their various departments.

The President should determine to attend the executive sessions of the Senate, a right which he possesses, it would interfere with his afternoon golf game. The Senate usually goes into executive session about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

President is generally on the golf links taking his afternoon recreation. Then, again, the Senate goes into executive session at unexpected times, although the Senate might act in accordance with the President's wishes if he pressed a desire to attend the sessions.

Members of the cabinet would find their time much disturbed if they undertook to attend the sessions of the House for various subjects pertaining to the different departments are up for consideration at different times during the day. Then, again, it would require a change in the rules of the House to enable the cabinet officers to participate in the debates, and this change could not be brought about without a great deal of difficulty.

If this idea, which has been discussed from time to time, should be put into operation it would arouse a real objection, which would no doubt be voiced by Democrats as well as Republicans. There is a feeling that the executive branch dominates and overpowers the legislative branch too much already.

If the President should attend the sessions of Congress at one end of the Capitol and the cabinet officers should attend the sessions at the other for the purpose of "getting in closer touch" it would be interpreted as a desire to expand the power of the executive branch. More than that, it would be considered as a still further advance of the English idea in America. The first objection was when the President went to the Capitol to deliver his various messages. However, this suggestion may be just a "feeler" on the part of the administration to see how the country and Congress will take the suggestion.

Intimate friends of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin say that he is not likely to attend the sessions of the Senate this winter, as his health has not improved. Senator La Follette tried to take part in the political campaign of Wisconsin, but his health was not equal to the task. The Wisconsin Senator was not in the Senate for several months before the adjournment this fall.

Gratifying statements are made by Southern men from time to time about the manner in which men of the South are handling the present situation. It was thrust upon them as a result of the war in Europe when cotton did not find a market. All these statements show that the South is not crushed by any means, although it has received a severe blow. The people of that region are giving evidence of a growing Americanism, which has been characteristic of all regions when trouble came upon them.

Senator Martine of New Jersey is not of the Democrats who can see as big a victory in the recent elections as some of the members of the administration. "New Jersey is all right," he said, "although the election did not go quite to suit us. However, the Democrats have got enough to maintain control. They cannot oust us, and that is one satisfaction."

No doubt Champ Clark sincerely hopes that his predictions will come true and that Congress will not be in session next summer. For six years now Champ has been debarred from spending as much time on the lecture circuit as he would like, as this is a profitable part of statesmanship.

Army men have been much interested in the manner in which motors have been used in the great European war. At the same time they do not believe that the army mule has gone into the discard. Many railroads and the good highways in European countries have made it possible to use automobiles and motor trucks. In this country the long stretches of country without railroads and the lack of good highways will continue to make the army mule a necessary war material in the United States.

The approach of the short session of Congress and the possibility that there may be no extra session next spring have led the men who see $25,000,000 to interest themselves in the sale of the Colombian treaty. It is expected that a large portion of that $25,000,000 has been promised to certain parties if they get the treaty through. Consequently they are all at work but it is doubtful if their hopes will be realized this winter.

FIRING IN UPPER ALSACE.

Germans Mounting Guns in Colmar Hoping to Force Bombardment.

BERNE, Switzerland, via Paris, Dec. 5.—The sound of heavy cannonading in upper Alsace has been heard far as Basel and other localities near the Swiss frontier. The main struggle between the French and Germans, according to reports reaching the Swiss frontier, is around Altkirch and Damerkirch.

The inmates of a large madhouse near Bernheim, more than 400 in number, were so frightened by the roaring of the guns that they became frantic and tried to break out of the asylum. The German authorities were obliged to convey them all to Mulhausen.

A newspaper despatch stated that the Germans are mounting guns before the city hall and church in Colmar with the object of forcing the French to bombard the town, in this hope that the population will be thus turned against the French.

BLOODIEST FIGHT OF THE WAR.

Hundreds of Germans Fall in Attacks Between Tuzyn and Brzezany.

PETROGRAD, via London, Dec. 5.—The most tragic of the fighting about Lodz thus far, it is reported here, occurred between Tuzyn and Brzezany, southeast of Lodz. Heavy German forces, which had penetrated to Tuzyn, it appears, were surrounded and obliged to fight their way to Brzezany to unite with the main body.

The Russian essayed a counter-attack to prevent the junction but the Germans cut a passage at the point of the bayonet for a distance of 15 miles. This battle is called the bloodiest and most pitiless fight of the war. Ninety per cent of the German officers were put out of action and many regiments had less than 100 men left. The fighting lasted 34 hours. The Germans fell in rows but their comrades pushed forward over the bodies and hurled themselves against the Russians.

AUSTRIANS LOSE HEAVILY.

Heavy Fighting in Course of Manoeuvring for Position of Lask.

PETROGRAD, via London, Dec. 5.—The heaviest firing in the vicinity of Lodz during the past two days has occurred in the course of manoeuvring for the position of Lask, 15 miles southwest of Lodz.

On the Szczerzow line, which is 15 miles long east of the Warta, the fighting appears to indicate that the Germans have been heavily reinforced and that they are filling the gap between their right wing and the isolated body which has been striving to turn the Russian left.

The German defense on the northern front in East Prussia occupies a position along the River Angerapp from Gumbinnen to Darkehmen, and thence to the northern extremity of the Mazurian lakes, at Angerburg. Here the Russians are crowded close to the German line. On the east front of the lakes and to the Vistula, the Russians have taken a position slightly back of their line of advance of 10 days ago. Both sides appear to be waiting for the outcome of the struggle at Lodz. The main German forces in this region are concentrated about Milawa.

The military critic of the Bourse Gazette reckons that the loss of the Austrians in prisoners is equal to their number of dead and wounded, and places the fighting strength of Austria now at two-thirds of what it was at the beginning of the war. He cites the percentage of Russian artillery falling into Russian hands and says this is accounted for by an explanation in a recent issue of the official War Messenger, to the effect that since the second Austrian retreat from Poland the Austrian artillery is always withdrawn from the field before the final issue of the battle. This, he declares, amounts to beginning a retreat before they are actually defeated.

He states that the last 50,000 Austrian prisoners included 600 commissioned officers. The writer contrasts this with the results where the Russians are engaged against the German. There, he declares, the officers fell fighting.

New Proposition for President to Attend Senate Executive Sessions.

Real Objections May be Aroused—La Follette Unable to Attend Next Session of Senate.

(Washington correspondence of the News.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—President Wilson is evidently satisfied with the efforts he has been making to get in closer touch with Congress, first by reading his various messages to the two houses in joint session and by appearing at the Capitol at various times for the purpose of consulting Senators and Representatives on pending legislation. No doubt this accounts for the discussion that has taken place regarding any move on the part of the administration to get in closer touch with the lawmakers in the Capitol. The new proposition that the President should attend the executive sessions of the Senate when treaties, foreign relations and Presidential nominations are under consideration. The other is that the cabinet should attend the sessions of the House when matters are being discussed pertaining to their various departments.

If the President should determine to attend the executive sessions of the Senate, a right which he possesses, it will interfere with the afternoon session. The Senate usually convenes into executive session about 5 o'clock in the afternoon. At that time the President is generally on the golf links taking his afternoon recreation. Then, again, the Senate goes into executive session at unusual times, though the Senate might act in accordance with the President's wishes if he expressed a desire to attend the sessions. Members of the cabinet would find their time much disturbed if they undertook to attend the sessions of the House for several subjects pertaining to the different departments are up for consideration at different times during the day. Then, again, it would require a change in the rules of the House to permit cabinet officers to participate in the debates, and this change could not be brought about without a great deal of difficulty.

If this idea, which has been discussed from time to time, should be put in operation it would arouse a real objection, which would no doubt be voiced by Democrats as well as the Republicans. There is a feeling that the executive branch of the government overpowers the legislative branch too much already.

If the President should attend the sessions of Congress at one end of the Capitol and the cabinet officers should attend the sessions at the other for the purpose of looking in closer at the work of the legislative branch, it would be interpreted as a desire to expand the power of the executive branch. More than that, it would be considered as a still further advance of the English idea in America. The first object lesson was when the President went to the Capitol to deliver his various messages. However, the suggestion may be just a "feeler" on the part of the administration to see how the country and Congress will take the suggestion.

Intimate friends of Senator La Follette of Wisconsin say that he is not likely to attend the sessions of the Senate this winter, as his health has not improved. Senator La Follette tried to take part in the political campaign of Wisconsin, but his health was not equal to the task. The Wisconsin Senator was not in the Senate for several months before the adjournment this fall.

Gratifying statements are made by Southern men from time to time about the manner in which men of the South are handling the great problem which was thrust upon them as a result of the war in Europe when cotton did not find a market. All these statements show that the South is not crushed by any means, although it has received a severe blow. The people of that region are giving evidence of sturdy Americanism, which has been characteristic of all regions when trouble came upon them.

Senator Martine of New Jersey is not of the Democrats who can see as big a victory in the recent elections as some of the members of the administration. "New Jersey is all right," he said, "although the election did not go quite to suit us. However, the Democrats have got enough to maintain control. They cannot oust us, and that is our satisfaction."

No doubt Champ Clark sincerely hopes that his predictions will come true and that Congress will not be in session next summer. For six years now Champ has been debarred from spending as much time on the lecture circuit as he would like, as this is a profitable part of statesmanship.

Army men have been much interested in the manner in which motors have been used in the great European war. At the same time they do not believe that the army will have gone into the discard. Many railroads and the good highways in European countries have made it possible to use automobiles and motor trucks. In this country the long stretches of country without railroads and the lack of good highways will continue to make the army much a necessary war material in the United States.

The approach of the short session of Congress and the possibility that there may be no extra session next spring have led the men who see $25,000,000 in interest themselves in the passage of the Colombian treaty. A large portion of that $25,000,000 has been promised to certain parties if they get the treaty through. Consequently they are all at work, but it is doubtful if their hopes will be realized this winter.

German Mounting Guns in Colmar Hoping to Force Bombardment.

The fighting lasted 36 hours. The Germans fell in rows, but their comrades pushed forward over the bodies and hurled themselves against the Russians.

AUSTRIANS LOSE HEAVILY.

Heavy Fighting in Course of Manoeuvring for Position of Lask.

PETROGRAD, via London, Dec. 5.—The heaviest fighting in the vicinity of Lodz during the past few days has occurred in the course of manoeuvring for the position of Lask, 15 miles southwest of Lodz.

On the Szczecznice line, which is 15 miles long, east of the Warta, the fighting appears to indicate that the Germans have been heavily re-inforced and that they are filling the gap between their right wing and the isolated body which has been striving to turn the Russian left.

The German defense on the northern front in East Prussia occupies a position along the River Angerapp from Gumbinnen to Darkehnen, and thence to the northern extremity of the Masurian lakes, at Angerburg. Here the Russians are entrenched close to the German line. On the east front of the lakes and to the Vistula the Russians have taken a position slightly back of their line of advance of 10 days ago. Both sides appear to be awaiting the outcome of the struggle at Lodz. The main German force in this region are concentrated about Alau.

The military critic of the Bourras Gazette reckons that the loss of the Austrians in prisoners is equal to their number of dead and wounded, and places the fighting strength of Austria now at two-thirds of what it was at the beginning of the war. He cites the percentage of Russian artillery falling into Russian hands and says this is accounted for by an explanation in a recent issue of the official War Messenger, to the effect that since the second Austrian retreat from Poland the Austrian artillery is always withdrawn from the field before the final issue of the battle. This he declares amounts to beginning a retreat before they are actually defeated.

He states that the last 60,000 Austrian prisoners included 600 commissioned officers. The writer contrasts this with the results where the Russians are engaged against the Germans. There, he declares, the officers fell fighting.

TO COMPLETE DRYDOCK.

Supplemental Contract for Work at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii.

Secretary Daniels announces that a supplemental contract will be signed with the San Francisco Bridge Company for completion of the great naval dry dock at the Pearl Harbor naval station, Hawaii. Work on this dock was suspended nearly two years ago when the bottom heaved. The new contract calls for completion of the dock by July 1, 1915, for $1,291,559, which is $250,000 less than the amount made available by Congress.

The basin, according to the new design will be considerably larger than originally contemplated—1029 feet long, 145 feet wide at the top and 35 feet deep over the sill at mean high water. The total price is $1,442,559, exclusive of the cost of caissons, pumping plant and some other features provided by the government.

ONLY ONE FOUL CALLED.

Army and Navy Team Wins, Middletown Boys Being Un-used to Floor.

At the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association Friday evening one of the cleanest games of basketball ever seen in that hall was played between the Middletown Five and the Association team. Though the out-of-towners were defeated by a score of only one foul was called. There were many instances of good playing, but the boys from Middletown were not used to the floor and did not work well together. Both teams should prove strong later in the season. The line up:

Army and Navy: Middletown Five: O'Leary, r. f. l. b. H. Peckham; Herman, Mercal, l. f. r. b. Simmons; Snow, c. l. f. c. Chase; Jones, r. b. l. f. L. Sherman; McGrath, l. b. l. f. White.

Score—Army and Navy 58, Middletown Five 18. Goals from floor—O'Leary, Herman, Snow & McGrath 7, White 4, Peckham, Chase 2.

WATT FOR BATTLESHIPS.

House Naval Committee Would Increase Submarine Strength.

While the submarines have been operating successfully in ideal fields in the European war, the American navy should accord important functions to battleships and submarines and not sacrifice the battleships to the submarines, in the opinion of Rear Admiral Watt, chief constructor of the navy, who outlined his views before the House naval affairs committee. Questioning by members during the admiral's statement developed a strong sentiment in the committee for increasing the submarine strength of the navy.

Admiral Watt explained that the Navy Department proposes to let a contract December 15 for a submarine weighing 1,000 tons with a speed of 20 miles an hour, designed to stay under the water longer and to have a greater radius of action than any other submarine afloat.

TO COMPLETE DRYDOCK.

Supplemental Contract for

Work at Pearl Harbor,

Hawaii.

Secretary Daniels announces that a supplemental contract will be signed with the San Francisco Bridge Company for completion of the great naval dry dock at the Pearl Harbor naval station, Hawaii. Work on this dock was suspended nearly two years ago when the bottom heaved. The new contract calls for completion of the dock by July 1, 1915, for $1,291,350, while in 1908,555 less than the amount made available by Congress.

The basin, according to the new design, will be considerably larger than originally contemplated—1025 feet long, 145 feet wide at the top and 35 feet deep over the sill at mean high water. The total price now is $1,442,118, exclusive of the cost of caissons, pumping plant and some other features provided by the government.

ONLY ONE FOUL CALLED.

Army and Navy Team Wins, Middletown Boys Being Used to Floor.

At the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association Friday evening one of the cleanest games of basket ball ever seen in that hall was played between the Middletown Five and the Association team. Though the out-towners were defeated by a big score, only one foul was called. There were many instances of good playing, but the boys from Middletown were not used to the floor and did not work well together. Both teams should have strong later in the season. The line up:

Army and Navy: Middletown Five O'Leary, r. f. I. b. H. Peckham, Herman, Mercal, l. f. r. b. Simmons, Snow, c. c. Chase, Jones, r. b. I. f. L. Sherman, McGrath, l. b. r. f. White.

Score—Army and Navy 58, Middletown Five 16. Goals from floor—O'Leary, Herman 5, Snow 4, McGrath 1; White 4, Peckham, Chase 2.

WATT FOR BATTLESHIPS.

House Naval Committee Would Increase Submarine Strength.

While the submarines have been operating successfully in ideal fields in the European war, the American navy should accord important functions to battleships and submarines and not sacrifice the battleships to the submarines, in the opinion of Rear Admiral Watt, chief constructor of the navy, who outlined his views before the house naval affairs committee. Questioning by members during the admiral's statement developed a strong sentiment in the committee for increasing the submarine strength of the navy. Admiral Watt explained that the Navy Department proposes to let a contract December 15 for a submarine weighing 1,000 tons, with a speed of 20 miles an hour, designed to stay under the water longer and to have a greater radius of action than any other submarine afloat.

A LOSS TO THE CITY.

"Citizen" Regrets Defeat of T. J. Williams of Re-Organization Committee.

Only two of the committee on fire department re-organization came before the people for re-election this year. Colonel H. A. Peckham had no difficulty in being re-elected in the Second Ward, but in the Fourth the former campaigner against Mr. T. J. Williams was defeated.

Mr. Williams was a member of the committee who upon his appointment admitted that he knew practically nothing about the department, but believed the criticism of it and of members individually was entirely unjust. No member of the committee kept his eyes wider open or listened more intently, and so when he began to see a new light it came from being convinced by facts as he found them. While he was at first classed as an opponent of re-organization, he was not a member of the committee, and the meetings and close his eyes and ears.

The city government has lost one of the kind of members of which there are too few, for it is a well known fact that he was so conscientious that at times he came to his decisions with a knowledge that what was best for the city was against the interests of his friends.

NEWPORT COUNTY PRIZES.

Governor's Trophy at Rhode Island and Corn Show Goes to Kingston Entry.

A message from Providence says the Governor's trophy at the Rhode Island Corn Show was today awarded to F. W. Millett of Kingston, Newport County fared pretty well at the show. Richard Macomber of Portsmouth was taken a first prize and Philip Caswell several prizes. The Beekman farm went to Frank Evans of Cumberland.

HOUSING OVER THE SPILL DRIVER.

The public works department spill driver is at the Government landing, leaving at home for his holder and leaving no house. This is the second effort to make this a fur and fowl weather craft, but with the spill driver for the new pier at the improved landing as a winter's task a housing must be provided. It is expected that the spill driver will be replaced by a new one soon begin to arrive and this rough work can be carried on while the weather is too hard for some of the more dainty parts of the job.

HOME IN RECORD TIME.

Recent Work Completed; Aldermen Kelly in, Channing Hallway Out.

Official Figures Giving Results of the City Election as Finally Determined.

The Board of Aldermen as a returning board Friday afternoon completed the count of the votes cast in Tuesday's election, more than 24 hours ahead of last year's effort. It was not quite 3:30 o'clock when they finished a recount of the recount of the Fifth ward Council ticket, and satisfied Mr. Charley Malley that when he fell out of the 13 candidates he had gone for left the counting which he managed to get him in fact a couple of votes worse than the count which pushed him off.

There being no one else present to demand a recount, the board promptly declared the election of 13 candidates for public office, 72 of whom are to serve without pay for three years.

It also passed the necessary resolution declaring the passage of the fire department re-organization proposition, giving a slightly increased possibility over the wardens' figures.

A LOSS TO THE CITY.

"Citizen" Regrets Defeat of T. J. Williams of Re-Organization Committee.

To the Editor of the News:

Only two of the committee on fire department re-organization came before the people for re-election this year. Colonel H. A. Peckham had no difficulty in being re-elected in the Second Ward, but in the Fourth the former campaigned against Mr. T. J. Williams and he was defeated.

Mr. Williams was a member of the committee who upon his appointment admitted that he knew practically nothing about the department, but believed the criticism of it and of members individually was entirely unjust. No member of the committee kept his eyes wide open or listened more intently and so when he began to see a new light it came from being convinced by facts as he found them.

While he was at first classed as an opponent of re-organization, he was too honest of purpose to avoid the meetings and close his eyes and ears. The city government has lost one of the kind of members of which there are too few, for it is a well known fact that he was so conscientious that at times he came to his decisions with full knowledge that what was best for the city was against the interests of his friends.

HOUSING OVER THE SPILE DRIVER.

The public works department spile driver is at the Government landing, receiving a house for his boiler and heating engine. This is the second effort to make this a fair and full weather craft, but with the spile driving for the new piers at the Improved Landing as a winter's task a housing must be provided. It is expected that the spile—just a few hundreds of them—will soon begin to arrive and this rough work can be carried on while the weather is too hard for some of the more finished parts of the job.

NEWPORT COUNTY PRIZES.

Governor's Trophy at Rhode Island and Corn Show Goes to Kingston Entry.

A message from Providence says the Governor's trophy at the Rhode Island Corn Show was today awarded to F. W. Mullett of Kingston, Newport County. Mullett's entry was the showiest and best of the show.

Portsmouth Grange was awarded first prize in the Grange exhibit, Thornton Sherman of Middletown took second prize for boys' exhibit. 15 years Richard Macomber of Portsmouth has taken a first prize and Philip Caswell several prizes. The Peckham trophy went to Frank Evans of Cumberland.

NEWPORT WATER SHED PROTECTED.

Killing of the Levers Cows to be Done on the Slope Near the Bay.

It is expected that the Frank Levers cows will be killed this afternoon, arrangements having been completed and only the arrival of the official staff being necessary. The Water Works Company has agreed to supply board for bridging across the road, so that no contagion will be left in the highway. The boards will be burned after the passage of the cattle.

The place selected for the killing is on the watershed toward the bay, so that all four for the company's watershed will be removed. That which the company is guarding is not now in use for Newport's supply, but the one proposed for the deep reservoir which was to be constructed in the Lawton's valley district, between the West Main road and the tracks of the Newport & Providence short line. The plans called for the building of the dyke or dam and the placing of the roadway on that, thus removing the heavy grade down into the valley and back again.

WHITEFIELD IN NEWPORT.

Memento of Visits in Possession of the United Congregational Church.

Rev. W. I. Ward Writes of Evangelist's Coming Before Organization of a Methodist Class.

[Rev. W. I. Ward, in Zion's Herald.]

There is in the possession of the United Congregational Church, Newport, R. I., an interesting memento of the visits of the famous evangelist, Whitefield, to that city. It is a plain but substantial mahogany table which stands in the pastor's room in the church building. Attached to the under side of the top of the table, and protected by glass which is set in a frame of narrow molding, is a sheet of paper on which is found the following inscription:

"This table was given to me by Miss Philadelphia Ellery, toward the end of her life. It was given to her by her father, WILLIAM ELLERY, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, who stayed to her that Whitefield preached standing upon it."

"To Dr. Thomas Wood, July, 1833."

Dr. Thayer was pastor of the United Congregational Church from 1811 to 1853, and then pastor emeritus until 1881, the year of his death. He gave the table to the church in 1853 and, upon doing so, addressed to Dr. Wood, who was pastor of the church at that time, the note to which we refer above. William Ellery was a worshiper at the Second Church.

The table is circular in form and about three feet in diameter. The top is made of solid mahogany, in three sections, two of which are attached to a central portion by hinges, thus forming leaves that may be turned down on the sides. Of the four curved legs two are so connected with the frame of the table as to allow them to be spread out one on either side, to support the leaves when they are extended. The upper surface of the top has been worked smooth and polished, but the under side bears marks of the axe, showing that it was made from hewn lumber. The hinges are rather rough and heavy, affording additional evidence of the age of the table.

Mr. Whitefield came to Newport in 1749 sixty years before the organization of a Methodist class here. His fame preceded him. There were two Congregational churches in the town—the First Church, organized in 1729, and the Second Church, whose organization occurred in 1733. While it was known that Whitefield was coming, the Second Church had a meeting and voted "that as Rev. George Whitefield is expected in town speedily and as his preaching in many other places has caused great contentions and divisions in many churches, this meeting house be shut against said Whitefield, and that no one be suffered to preach in it." But Rev. Nathaniel Chap, pastor of First Church, met and welcomed Whitefield and went with him to call upon Rev. James Honeyman, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church. A request for the use of that church for a two days' meeting was granted, and at 10 in the morning and 3 in the afternoon on successive week days the church was crowded with people who came to hear the noted preacher. A thousand people followed Whitefield to his place of lodging after the close of the last service at the church. He stood at the door for an hour and preached to the throng of "flogging and thrashing after righteousness."

He came to Newport again in 1770, and then Second Church opened to him the doors of its house of worship, which was crowded with listeners to the eloquent preacher. This building, which was erected in 1825, and is now owned and occupied by the Second Baptist Church and Trinity Church, which was built in 1730, are still standing; and so this "city by the sea" has two church edifices in which the world renowned evangelist preached.

The Congregationalists of Newport have grateful memories of Whitefield and of his preaching, and his good reason. A young woman who listened to him was Mrs. Sarah Osborne, a member of First Church. Whitefield's preaching led her to a deeper cooperation. The next year she organized some of the women of the church into a society for the cultivation of the religious life, an organization which is to be known as the "Osborne Society." A weekly devotional service was held, and it is recorded that one of the members was said to be so gifted in prayer that "she could pray an hour and a half without in any wise repeating herself or without any one being weary." And she was a woman more than 150 years ago.

During the War of the Revolution Newport was almost destroyed by the British army. The pastors of the First and Second Churches, being ardent and outspoken patriots, were practically driven out of town. Church property was seized and sold for use by the invading army, and nearly 500 private dwellings were torn down. But the soldiers had great respect for Mrs. Osborne, and called her "the good woman." They spared her humble home and in it the little prayer meetings were maintained—the only visible evidence of the Congregational body was living during a period of several years.

It may be of interest to add that the United Congregational Church was organized in 1823 by a merger of the First and Second Churches. It is one of the strong Christian bodies of the city today.

DONE IN RECORD TIME.

Recount Work Completed; Alderman Kelly In Councilman Malloy Out.

Official Figures Giving Results of the City Election as Finally Determined.

The Board of Aldermen as a returning board Friday afternoon completed the count of the votes cast in Tuesday's election, more than 21 hours ahead of last year's effort. It was not quite 8:30 o'clock when they finished a recount of the recount of the Fifth ward Council ticket, and satisfied Mr. Charles Malloy that when he fell out of the 12 candidates he had gone for good. The count which he demanded left him in fact a couple of votes worse than the count which pushed him off.

There being no one else present to demand a recount, the board promptly passed the necessary resolution declaring the election of 78 candidates for public office, 72 of whom are to serve without pay for three years.

It also passed the necessary resolution declaring the passage of the fire department re-organization proposition, giving a slightly increased plurality over the wardens' figures.
